Local Veteran Competes in National Veterans Wheelchair Games

Denver, Colo. -- July 7, 2010 -- Jamey Bollinger, a disabled Army Veteran from Alton, Ill., is competing in the 30th National Veterans Wheelchair Games, being held through July 9 in Denver, Colorado. Attracting nearly 600 athletes each year, the National Veterans Wheelchair Games are the largest annual wheelchair sports event in the world. It is a multi-event sports and rehabilitation program for military service Veterans who use wheelchairs due to spinal cord injuries, amputations, or neurological problems. Bollinger, 31, a combat-wounded Veteran of Operation Iraqi Freedom, has a spinal cord injury and currently receives care at the VA medical facility in St. Louis, Mo.

Bollinger is competing in the following events:

bowling
powerchair 200
motorized wheelchair rally
slalom
powerchair relay

Athletes in the Games compete within three divisions – Masters (over age 40), Novice (first-time competitors), and Open (all others). They also compete within classes according to the level of their physical ability, with three quadriplegic-level classes (1A, 1B and 1C), and four paraplegic-level or amputee classes (2, 3, 4 and 5). Bollinger competes as a Class 1A in the Open division.

The Games are presented by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) and Paralyzed Veterans of America, and hosted this year by the VA Eastern Colorado Health Care System (VA ECHS), and the Paralyzed Veterans of America Mountain States Chapter. Funded with help from a host of corporate sponsors, events at the National Veterans Wheelchair Games are a showcase for the benefit of sports rehabilitative programs, and the remarkable athletic abilities and personal achievements of our nation's disabled Veterans.
