

A Guidebook
For Alaska's
Incarcerated
Veterans

Forward

This guidebook can be an important tool. Review all of the resources thoroughly to understand the opportunities available. When these programs are used properly, the benefits will be a minimization of the outside pressures you may be confronted with if released; social acceptance, economics, and re-establishment as a productive member of society. This booklet is a tool for veterans incarcerated and their families who wish access to services to support a new and better way of life. Be aware, this guidebook is designed to assist veterans incarcerated in the State of Alaska, and their families, laws do vary from state to state. Therefore, check Alaska state laws and regulations against this guide.

This Guidebook has been designed and written by David J. Schwing. It may be reproduced and distributed without permission from the author. Agency staff names and addresses, phone numbers and website addresses change. USING THE GUIDEBOOK

This guide is for you to use to plan for your release and to keep as a reference after your release. It includes addresses, phone numbers, and web sites that you can use to find out about programs and other help available after your release. You may want to ask a friend or family member to help you find the information you need if you don't have phone or internet access. Keep in mind that this guide does not include all of the services available. What is available in one area may be different from what is available in another, so be sure to check with local resources to learn about services in your area. While you are in prison, find out which unit in your facility can help you plan for your release (often the education or transfer unit). Classes may be offered so you can work on skills development and prepare for life after release. You don't want to risk homelessness once you are released, so take advantage of the opportunities available to you.

Begin thinking about what specifically you will need upon release.

Ask yourself these kinds of questions:

1. Will I need housing?
2. Will I need medical, substance abuse, or mental health care?
3. Do I need to learn a job skill?
4. Do I have any other legal issues, such as child support?
5. How do I restart my VA checks or Supplemental Security Income (SSI)?

Make a list of your needs. Remember that this is just a tool to help you get organized. A sample list might look like this:

- I need a place to live.
- I need a job.
- I need clothing to wear to work.
- I need to find out what benefits I can get as a veteran.
- I want to get addictions treatment.
- I owe child support.

Think about your list as you read through this guide. Who do you think can help you with each of your needs? Is there one organization that may be able to work with you, on many different things, or do you need to contact several agencies? Keep track of the steps you take, including the dates and names of people you contact for information or assistance.

Although this guide provides national and state addresses for many organizations, we recommend you check your phone book for local, county, and state agencies that know what help is available in your area.

When writing a letter to request information, be clear.

Keep your letter short, to the point, and write legibly. Include the following information:

- Your name and contact information.
- A brief statement about your current situation.
- Your specific request.
- What you have done so far (Example: I have written to _____ organization and they suggested I contact you).
- Any restrictions for mailings (Example: Mail with staples or paper clips will not be accepted by my prison facility).

When contacting an agency for help by mail, email or phone, be persistent and polite in order to get results. Ask questions if information is not clear to you. Remember that many organizations are staffed by volunteers who are eager to help, but may not have the answers you are looking for. If someone cannot help you, ask about who can. The Internet can also be helpful to find information about VA benefits and community resources in your area. This guidebook includes web addresses, when available. If computer access is not available at your facility, you can visit the public library after release. Computer access may also be provided at the Alaska Job Service Centers.

HELP FOR VETERANS

This section on includes Alaska's community resources that can assist you with getting your life back on track. Check the phone book for local, state, and federal agencies that know what services are available to you. Start asking about services and any requirements for those services ASAP, so that you will be better prepared when you are released.

WHERE TO START

Check the local phone book yellow pages under "Homeless" or "Social Service Organizations" for a list of many local organizations that offer different services, which may include clothing, public transportation tokens, emergency shelter, and more. You may need to contact several agencies to find all the services you need. Services provided by government agencies are listed in the blue pages found near the front of the phone book. Check with your local Adult Public Assistance Office to find out what programs are available and what their guidelines are. We have included some guidance below, but your local organizations are your best resources.

Remember, it never hurts to ask!

Every VA Medical Center has a Health Care for Homeless Veterans (HCHV) Coordinator who is responsible for helping homeless veterans access VA and community based care to end homelessness among veterans. The HCHV program provides outreach, clinical assessments and referrals for medical and mental health care, long-term transitional residential assistance, case management and employment assistance with linkage to permanent housing. For information to the HCHV Coordinator call 1-907-273-4057 or go to www1.va.gov/homeless/page.cfm?pg=21.

Alaska VA Healthcare System & Regional Office (AVHSRO) provides assistance with Veterans benefits & entitlements information, VA claims process, representation and advocacy, Trauma (PTSD) counseling, Veterans Homes for those in need of nursing care, and employment assistance through federal funded reintegration projects. Call 1-800-827-1000.

Eligibility for VA Benefits While Incarcerated

Your ability to get most VA benefits depends on your discharge from the military. In general, you are eligible for services if you were discharged under honorable conditions. This includes general discharges. You and your family may be able to get certain benefits while you are in prison, but these benefits are limited if you are convicted of a felony and imprisoned for more than 60 days. Payments are not reduced for veterans participating in work-release programs, living in halfway houses or under community control.

Disability Compensation is money paid to veterans who were injured or have a disease that started or got worse during active duty. If you are already receiving disability compensation and are in prison, your payment will be reduced to the 10% disability rate beginning on the 61st day you are in prison. For example, if you were receiving $201 or more before your incarceration, your new payment amount will be $104. If your disability rating was 10% before you were incarcerated, your new payment will be at the 5% rate. However, you may apply to have the difference awarded to eligible family members.

VA Disability Pension is money that may be available to low-income veterans who are permanently and totally disabled, but not as a result of military service, and have 90 days or more of active military service, at least one day of which was during a period of war. Payments are stopped on the 61st day of incarceration. You may apply to have some of this money awarded to family members.

VA Medical Care is not provided to veterans in prison. However, outreach services that are designed to educate and link you up for services after your release are possible. VA health facilities may provide care to you after your release. Contact 1-800-827-1000 for the Alaska VA Healthcare System and Regional Office.

Benefits for Your Family

Even though you can only receive part of your disability compensation while in prison, the rest may be awarded to your family if they depend upon your income. For example, if you are rated at 80% disabled but can only receive the 10% disability rate while in prison, your dependent family may be given up to the remaining 70%. Your family members will only get the shared amounts if they can show financial need. This applies to the spouse, children, or dependent parents who are applying for these benefits. Send a letter to the VA Regional Office that has jurisdiction over your case to apply for your family to receive part of your benefits.

Benefits Payments

There is a 60-day “grace period” following a conviction when you may still receive full benefits. To avoid an overpayment, it is important that you notify the VARO immediately when you go to prison if you are receiving payments. If you do not notify the VA and receive overpayment, you and your family will lose all financial payments until the debt is paid.

For example, Joe is a veteran who receives a VA pension of $807 per month. He commits a crime and is incarcerated, but doesn't tell the VA right away and keeps getting paid for 6 months. Joe is overpaid a total of $4,872. After serving his sentence of 18 months, he is released and applies to the VA to have his pension restarted. The new pension rate is $830 per month, but the VA will use that amount to start repaying the $4,872 debt. Joe's first real check will start 5 months after he is released and will be for the amount of $30! Joe has to go at least 5 months without that income. Your award for compensation or pension benefits should resume from the date you are released, as long as the VA receives notice of release within one year. This includes placement in a community treatment center or halfway house. Remember, you must notify the VA when you are released to restart your payments.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS:

Can a veteran receive VA benefits while in prison?

VA can pay certain benefits to veterans who are incarcerated in a Federal, state or local penal institution. However, the amount we can pay depends on the type of benefit and reason for incarceration. This fact sheet provides information about the benefits most commonly affected by imprisonment.

How will my imprisonment affect the payment of:

VA Disability Compensation?

Your monthly payment will be reduced beginning with the 61st day of your imprisonment for a felony. If your payment before you went to prison was $188 or more, your new payment amount will be $98. If you were getting $98 before you were imprisoned, your new payment will be $49.00.

Note: If you are released from incarceration – participated in a work release or half-way house program, paroled, and completed sentence, your compensation payments will not be reduced.

VA Disability Pension?

If you are imprisoned in a Federal, State or local penal institution as the result of conviction of a felony or misdemeanor, such pension payment will be discontinued effective on the 61st day of imprisonment following conviction.

Am I eligible for VA medical care while imprisoned?

While incarcerated veterans do not forfeit their eligibility for medical care, current regulations restrict VA from providing hospital and outpatient care to an incarcerated veteran who is an inmate in an institution of another government agency when that agency has a duty to give the care or services. However, VA may provide outreach services during incarceration and medical care once the veteran has been unconditionally released from the penal institution. Veterans interested in applying for enrollment into the VA health care system should contact the nearest VA health care facility upon their release.

Can my spouse, children or dependent parent(s) receive any of the money not paid to me because of imprisonment?

VA can take all or part of the amount of compensation you are not receiving and apportion it to your spouse, child or children and dependent parents on the basis of individual need. They should contact the nearest VA regional office for details on how to apply. They will be asked to provide income information as part of the application process.

Will my benefits be automatically resumed when I get out of prison?

Your award for compensation or pension benefits shall be resumed the date of release from incarceration if the Department of Veterans Affairs receives notice of release within 1 year from following release. Depending on the type of disability, VA may schedule you for a medical examination to see if your disability has improved. You will need to visit or call your local VA regional office for assistance.

WOMEN VETERANS

Most VA Medical Centers and readjustment offices have a designated Women Veterans Coordinator to assist women veterans in accessing VA benefit programs and healthcare services. Call 1-877-222-8387 or go to <http://www.visn20.med.va.gov> to find the medical center nearest you.

The Alaska Department of Veterans Affairs has a designated Women Veterans Coordinator to help women veterans. Call 1-800-827-1000.

Many women in prison had similar histories, problems, and personal issues before their arrest and conviction. Mentors with Women in Community Service (WICS) help women preparing to leave prison and those who are just getting back into society. WICS' prison programs help women think about their behavior, gain job skills, and build self-esteem. For the Northwest Region (AK, ID, OR, WA) contact the U.S. DOL, Job Corps at 1-800-283- 9427 or go to <http://www.wics.org/offices.asp> to find the nearest WICS program.

LEGAL HELP

Veteran status issues:

You should talk to a Veterans Advocate Service Officer for help with discharge upgrades, seeking benefits, and filing a VA claim (call 1-800-562-2308 for the nearest Service Officer).

Other legal issues:

Most law is state-specific. Most common legal problems are governed by the law in the state where you live or where the problem occurred. When looking for legal help, make sure that information you find applies to your state, or that the lawyer or other service provider is qualified to work in your state.

The American Bar Association has a web site with guidelines about free legal services and links to directories of legal aid offices and pro-bono programs. Go to: www.abanet.org

Legal Services or Legal Aid offices have staff lawyers to provide free legal help to poor clients. The lawyers are usually experts in the types of problems that poor clients often have. Look in the yellow pages for a local Legal Aid office, check this guidebook, or check online for the program, nearest you. Check the yellow pages to contact your Local Bar Association to learn if there is a pro-bono program in your community, or go to www.abanet.org/barserv/stlobar.html.

ALASKA PRO BONO PROGRAM
Frequently Asked Questions

How do I apply for services?

Please send us a letter or an e-mail including the following information: name, address, telephone, legal problem, etc. We will then contact you to determine if you qualify for services through our program. Our mailing address is: APBP, PMB 651 - 1120 E. Huffman Road, Suite 23, Anchorage, AK 99515; our e-mail is info@alaskaprobono.org.

I have contacted the Alaska Legal Services Corporation (ALSC) and they tell me that there is a conflict and they cannot help me, can I obtain assistance through your program?

No, due to our relationship with the Alaska Legal Services Corporation and our policies, we are unable to assist you. .

What type of cases do you handle?

Please take a look at the eligibility section in our website. We only handle civil cases for aliens, prisoners, class actions, welfare reform, assisted suicide, abortion related litigation and others. Other civil matters are generally handled by the Alaska Legal Services Corporation if you qualify for their services.

ALSC staff tells me that they are restricted from handling the type of case I have. Is there any way I can get help?

That will depend on your eligibility and the type of case you have.

Where is your office located?

Due to our limited financial resources, we do not have an office open to the general public. Our services are provided through the internet, telephonically and through mail.

What type of assistance will I receive from the pro bono program if I qualify for services?

The pro bono program will try to find a volunteer attorney to represent you, or give you a one-time free consultation.

I am over income, or simply do not qualify for services. However, I can't afford an attorney, what can I do?

For certain type of cases we offer a variety of self-help legal clinics throughout Alaska. These clinics have been designed to help clients represent themselves in court, or provide clients with information concerning certain areas of the law. These clinics are for educational purpose only. You should always seek the help of an attorney when dealing with legal issues.

How long does it takes for the pro bono program to select an attorney to represent me?

We cannot guarantee case placement with pro bono attorneys. The pro bono program enlists hundreds of volunteers statewide, but that is no guarantee that one will accept your case. It is impossible to determine the time it takes to place your case.

Is this a free service?

You will not be charged for the attorney's time. However, depending on the program's funding, you might be required to pay for certain expenses (such as filing fees), but never for the time the pro bono attorney has generously agreed to donate on your behalf.

What are my responsibilities once my case has been placed?

Clients are required to maintain their attorney and the pro bono program informed of any changes to their personal information and income level. Additional information may be required from time to time. Clients should be respectful of the attorney's time and speak only of the matters their attorneys have agreed to represent them on.

What if I don't like the outcome on my case? Can I appeal?

The outcome on your case is beyond our control. Appeals need to have prior approval from this office. However, they are costly and time consuming. We generally do not authorize appeals, unless there are very special circumstances and your pro bono attorney has to make the request.

HOUSING

It is important to know that you have a place to go when released. The first step in returning to the community is finding a place to stay. This section includes ways to locate emergency shelter, transitional programs, and permanent housing assistance. Transitional or temporary housing can serve as a step toward full independence upon your release. However, there are often waiting lists for housing assistance programs, so you should ask about applying as soon as possible. If you are released and find yourself homeless, emergency assistance is available.

The Tenant Based Rental Assistance Program (TBRA) provides subsidies to bridge the gap between the cost of decent rental housing and the amount a qualified low-income household can afford to pay. This is accomplished by executing an agreement with the tenant's landlord to accept TBRA payments, ensuring that all units assisted meet minimum HUD standards, and disbursing a subsidy check directly to the landlord on the tenant's behalf. TBRA subsidies are not tied to any particular project; tenants are free to select an acceptable unit located anywhere in the Municipality.

The Department of Health and Human Services, Social Services Division's Safe City Program administers the TBRA program for the Community Development Division.

Under Safe City's management, TBRA exists as a bridge for those on the waiting list for Section 8 housing.

HUD's mission is to make Americans a partner in the nation's economic progress by helping people create communities of opportunities. This mission requires HUD staff to work in close partnership with State and Local governments, non-profits, housing authorities, tribal entities, lenders and other organizations that are committed to community development. As a federal funding agency, HUD's program funds target the low-to-moderate residents by funding rental assistance, homeless support, and homeownership, housing opportunities, job training and other community needs.

Rental Assistance Programs: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/pih/programs/hcv/about/>

- Public Housing is low-income housing that is actually operated by AHFC.
- Section 8 Vouchers that allow you to go rent your own place to live, using the voucher to cover all or part of the rent
- Privately owned subsidized housing, where the government provides subsidies directly to the owner who then applies those subsidies to the rents he/she charges low-income tenants
- Other affordable housing programs, such as HUD's Home Program provides grants to state and local governments which may use them to offer rental assistance

EMPLOYMENT

FINDING & KEEPING A JOB

Finding a job may be hard and can seem overwhelming, but it is possible and very important! When released you may find that you are completely starting over. You should ask for job counseling and training while incarcerated so you are prepared to work when released. Don't wait until you get out to start thinking about what you will do. Start planning now!

Local Veterans Employment Representatives (LVER) and Disabled Veterans Outreach Program (DVOP) specialist assigned by the State Employment Security Department to help veterans find and keep jobs. LVERs are located with the local Workforce site or affiliate Job Service Centers (JSC). DVOP Specialists work under the supervision of the LVER to develop job and training opportunities for veterans with service connected disabilities, linking veterans with employers and making sure follow-up services are provided. To find a LVER or DVOP near you, visit your state employment service office listed in the phone book blue pages under "State Government Employment Security Department". The listings are also in this guidebook.

The Veterans Service Division, Alaska Department of Veterans Affairs, provides employment and training services to homeless veterans to help them get back into the workforce through DOL-VETS funded Homeless Veterans' Reintegration Projects (HVRP). HVRP assists veterans with job search preparation, vocational counseling, occupational skills training, on-the-job training, trade skills certification and licensing, and job placement assistance and referral to supportive services. To find out if you may be eligible and how to access HVRP contact the Alaska VA Healthcare System & Regional Office (AVAHSRO) at 1-800-827-1000.

The VA's Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment services help veterans with service-connected disabilities by providing job training and counseling to those who have an employment handicap. Services include help finding a job, on-the-job training, job development, and vocational training. If you are not eligible for these services, a VA counselor may help you find other options, goals, or programs. Contact the Alaska VA Healthcare System & Regional Office (AVAHSRO) at 1-800-827-1000.

Through its' Veterans Industries and Compensated Work Therapy programs, the VA offers structured work opportunities and supervised therapeutic housing for at-risk and homeless veterans with physical, mental health and addictions problems. VA contracts with private industry and the public sector for work by these veterans, who learn job skills, re-learn successful work habits, and regain a sense of self-esteem. Veterans are paid for their work and given assistance with employment in the community. In Alaska, the VA currently has Veterans Industries Programs located at the Alaska VA Healthcare System & Regional Office Homeless Veteran Services Program located at 3001 C Street, Anchorage, Alaska.

The State of Alaska has a Vocational Rehabilitation program that helps people with disabilities find and keep jobs. Apply for these services immediately after your release. Look in the phone book blue pages under "Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS)," then "Vocational Rehabilitation," or search the internet for "Vocational Rehabilitation" in your state.

What is a DVOP? Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program (DVOP) specialists develop job and training opportunities for veterans, with special emphasis on veterans with service-connected disabilities. DVOP specialists provide direct services to veterans enabling them to be competitive in the labor market. They provide outreach and offer assistance to disabled and other veterans by promoting community and employer support for employment and training opportunities, including apprenticeship and on-the-job training. DVOP specialists serve as case managers for veterans enrolled in Federally-funded job training programs such as the Department of Veterans Affairs' Vocational Rehabilitation program, and other veterans with serious disadvantages in the job market. DVOPs are available to those veterans and their employers to help ensure that necessary follow up services are provided to promote job retention.

What is an LVER? Local Veterans' Employment Representatives (LVERs) are state employees located in Alaska Job Centers to provide assistance to veterans by overseeing the provision of services to veterans by all Job Center staff. LVER's also monitor job listings from Federal contractors to see that eligible veterans get priority in referrals to these jobs. They also promote and monitor the participation of veterans in Federally-funded employment and training programs, and assist with preliminary processing of complaints from veterans about the observance of veterans' preference by Federal employers. Another part of their job is contacting community leaders, employers, unions, training programs and veterans' service organizations to be sure eligible veterans get the services they are entitled. LVER's also work with the Department of Veterans Affairs and other organizations to identify and aid veterans who need work-specific prosthetic devices, sensory aids or other special equipment to improve their employability.

Veterans' Preference for Employment

Since the time of the Civil War, Veterans of the Armed Forces have been given some degree of preference in appointments to Federal jobs. Recognizing that sacrifices are made by those serving in the Armed Forces, Congress enacted laws to prevent veterans seeking Federal employment from being penalized because of the time spent in military service.

By law, veterans who are disabled or who served on active duty in the Armed Forces during certain specified time periods or in military campaigns are entitled to preference over nonveterans both in hiring from competitive lists of eligibles and in retention during reductions in force.

Preference does not have as its goal the placement of a veteran in every vacant Federal job; this would be incompatible with the merit principle of public employment. Nor does it apply to promotions or other in-service actions. However, preference does provide a uniform method by which special consideration is given to qualified veterans seeking Federal employment.

Preference applies in hiring from civil service examinations, for most excepted service jobs, and when agencies make temporary appointments or use direct hire and delegated examining authorities from the U. S. Office of Personnel Management.

General Requirements for Preference

To be entitled to preference, a veteran must meet the eligibility requirements in section 2108 of title 5, United States Code. This means that:

- An honorable or general discharge is necessary.
- Military retirees at the rank of major, lieutenant commander, or higher are not eligible for preference unless they are disabled veterans.
- Guard and Reserve active duty for training purposes does not qualify for preference.
- When applying for Federal jobs, eligible veterans should claim preference on their application or resume. Applicants claiming 10-point preference must complete form SF-15, Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference.

TYPES OF PREFERENCE:

5-Point Preference

Five points are added to the passing examination score of a veteran who served:

- During the period December 7, 1941, to July 1, 1955; or
- For more than 180 consecutive days, any part of which occurred after January 31, 1955, and before October 15, 1976; or
- During the Gulf War from August 2, 1990 through January 2, 1992; or
- In a campaign or expedition for which a campaign medal has been authorized, including El Salvador, Grenada, Haiti, Lebanon, Panama, Somalia, Southwest Asia, Bosnia, and the Global War on Terrorism.

Medal holders and Gulf War veterans who enlisted after September 7, 1980, or entered on active duty on or after October 14, 1982, must have served continuously for 24 months or the full period called or ordered to active duty. The service requirement does not apply to veterans with compensable service-connected disabilities, or to veterans separated for disability in the line of duty, or for hardship.

10-Point Preference

Ten points are added to the passing examination score of:

- A veteran who served any time and who (1) has a present service-connected disability or (2) is receiving compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension from the military or the Department of Veterans Affairs. Individuals who received a Purple Heart qualify as disabled veterans.
- An unmarried spouse of certain deceased veterans, a spouse of a veteran unable to work because of a service-connected disability, and
- a mother of a veteran who died in service or who is permanently and totally disabled.

PREFERENCE IN EXAMINATION

Veterans meeting the criteria for preference and who are found eligible (achieve a score of 70 or higher either by a written examination or an evaluation of their experience and education) have 5 or 10 points added to their numerical ratings depending on the nature of their preference. For scientific and professional positions in grade GS-9 or higher, names of all eligibles are listed in order of ratings, augmented by veteran preference, if any. For all other positions, the names of 10-point preference eligibles who have a compensable, service-connected disability of 10 percent or more are placed ahead of the names of all other eligibles on a given register. The names of other 10-point preference eligibles, 5-point preference eligibles, and non-veterans are listed in order of their numerical ratings.

Entitlement to veterans' preference does not guarantee a job. There are many ways an agency can fill a vacancy other than by appointment from a list of eligibles.

FILING APPLICATIONS AFTER EXAMINATIONS HAVE CLOSED

A 10-point preference eligible may file an application at any time for any positions for which a non-temporary appointment has been made from a competitive list of eligibles within the past 3 years.

In addition, a person who is unable to file for an open competitive examination because of military service may file after the closing date. In either of the above situations, the veteran should contact the agency that announced the position for further information.

POSITIONS FOR PREFERENCE ELIGIBLES ONLY

Certain examinations are open only to preference eligibles as long as such applicants are available. These are custodian, guard, elevator operator and messenger.

SPECIAL COMPLAINT PROCEDURES FOR VETERANS

Veterans who believe that they have not been accorded the preference to which they are entitled may file a complaint with the U. S. Department of Labor's Veterans Employment and Training Service (VETS).

The Department of Labor's Office of the Assistant Secretary for Policy and Veterans' Employment and Training Service developed an "expert system" to help veterans receive the preferences to which they are entitled. Two versions of this system are currently available, both of which, help the veterans determine the type of preference to which they are entitled, the benefits associated with the preference and the steps necessary to file a complaint due to the failure of a Federal Agency to provide those benefits. The Internet address for the veterans' preference program is <http://www.dol.gov/elaws/vetspref.htm>. (State Employment Service Offices have veteran representatives available to assist veterans in gaining access to this information.)

Affirmative Action Plan

The State of Alaska 1998 Affirmative Action Plan affords all present and prospective state employees in the executive branch an equal opportunity for employment regardless of their veterans status - among many other factors.

The state will ensure there are no impermissible or artificial barriers for veterans or disabled veterans to cross in applying for state jobs, provide on-the-job training and assistance in locating qualified disabled applicants, recruit and employ qualified persons with disabilities and Vietnam era vets for state jobs, and sets up an informal complaint procedure. The plan is administered by the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity in the Division of Personnel.

Penny Beiler, Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager, P.O. Box 110201, Juneau AK 99811-0201, (Juneau) Phone: (907) 465-8482 or (907) 279-0299, Fax: (907) 465-2263; Website: <http://dop.state.ak.us>

A veteran may record, without fee, the original or a certified copy of his or her Armed Forces Report of Separation (DD-214 Form) at any State Recorder's office of the Department of Natural Resources.

The Recorder's office maintains 14 District offices throughout the state, overseeing 34 recording districts that record, index, and archive all of the documents that create the Official Public Record of the state of Alaska.

Veterans Land Discount/Purchase Preference

The Veterans Land Discount program allows certain veterans to a 25% discount on the purchase price of state residential/recreational land. The discount may be used only once during the veteran's lifetime and may not be used in conjunction with the veterans preference.

Under the Veterans Land Sale Preference, before offering to the general public any unoccupied residential land by auction, a veteran has the exclusive opportunity purchase the land at a restricted sale at fair appraised market value. Parcels that are offered under this preference must be five acres or less, classified as settlement land and zoned for residential use only.

A fact sheet is available on benefits administered by the Alaska Department of Natural Resources, Division of Mining, Land and Water Management:

Property Tax Exemptions

Veteran Housing and Residential Loans

The Alaska Housing Finance Corporation (AHFC) administers the Veterans Mortgage Program which offers financing for qualified veterans at lower interest rates. Active duty service in the Armed Forces, Public Health Service, NOAA or service as a cadet at the US Military, Air Force, Coast Guard or Naval Academy may qualify. Loans are generally processed rapidly, require little or no down payment, and often include lower interest.

Wartime Letters - The Legacy Project

The Legacy Project is a unique and meaningful way to honor all veterans by preserving letters written by soldiers on the front and letters written to them from home.

A national, volunteer non-profit agency, known as The Legacy Project, began collecting letters from any American wartime period to preserve these treasured documents and therefore heighten appreciation of them.

Letters can be ones personally written or received, or written by a relative. These may include eyewitness accounts of battles or acts of heroism, encounters with famous military leaders, love letters, or any other irreplaceable messages or little-known stories that will offer historians and future generations a better understanding of those who served and sacrificed for country.
