Volume 1, Issue 1 — Sunday July 4, 2010

Kick-off Today at Civic Center Park

Welcome... to Denver!

from Amanda S. Eckman, 2010 NVWG Chair

Welcome to our beautiful city, one mile above sea level. The Local Organizing Committee in Denver is honored to host the Games' 30th anniversary and wish you the very best during your stay. The week is full of surprises, unprecedented venues and an exhibition event like no other. We want you to enjoy our beautiful weather, reconnect with old friends, meet new and interesting people, and compete like you've never done before. As far as your hosts, our planning started with the synergy of strangers relying on the foundation of character. This group came together from all over the city with representation from the Mountain States Chapter of Paralyzed Veterans of America, VA Eastern Colorado Health Care System –including our community-based outpatient clinics and nursing homes, as well as the Health Administration Center and Veteran Benefits Administration. Every individual recognized the impact they could make on someone else's life and the pride they had in the institutions in which they worked. Using this genuine and authentic energy, we planned together, stressed together and most importantly have put the Games together with Heart a Mile High. May you all know that you are cared for and that we are most proud that you are here with us in Denver.

3-2-1, Kick-off!

The 30th National Veterans Wheelchair Games (NVWG) formally begin today with the first demonstration sports event of the week. The Games Kick-off takes place this morning, at 11:30 a.m. The brief but fun event is being held on the Broadway Terrace in Civic Center Park, a few blocks from the Colorado Convention Center. This year's Kick-off will showcase quad rugby. This is a fast moving and hard hitting sport, where competitive spirit and inspirational desire to overcome will be as clear as the Colorado sky. The unmistakable qualities of will, perseverance and courage will be there for all to see.

The annual Games Kick-off is an exhibition event where VA and PVA leadership, major sponsors, key stakeholders and representatives from the Denver community salute our Veteran athletes. The event also creates an opportunity for members of the local media to gain firsthand experience and participate as wheelchair athletes. Registration and classification occur from 9 a.m. – 4 p.m. today as well, so register early, or register later, but roll on up to the 30th NVWG Games Kick-off. You'll leave revved up and ready to give your all as you go for the gold and strive to exceed your expectations.

In case of rain, the Kick-off will be held in the Colorado Convention Center, Hall C, at the same time.

Opening Ceremonies!

After registration, come to the Athletes' Welcome Reception in the Hyatt Regency Centennial Ballroom starting at 4 p.m. After the reception, all athletes will parade through downtown Denver to the Opening Ceremonies at Civic Center Park. The parade departs at 7 p.m., and the Opening Ceremonies begin at 7:30.

Team Assignments

Team rosters for quad rugby, basketball, softball and power soccer are being completed today. Pick up your roster tomorrow morning at the Hyatt's Hospitality Desk or at breakfast.

It is very important that you know what team you are on so you can report to the correct venue at the right time. Pick up your team assignments as soon as possible to verify starting times and locations.

Quad Rugby Mini Clinic at 1 p.m.

A quad rugby mini-clinic will be offered today. We strongly urge you to attend, whether you are new to the sport or a longtime player. The rules and strategies of the game will be outlined by Dave Hosick, who is an expert QR player, a member of the Denver Harlequins National QR team and a U.S. Veteran. You will also get a chance to meet your three coaches, who are Paralympian quad rugby players and members of the Denver Harlequins. Please join us at the quad rugby court (Convention Center, Hall C) at 1 p.m. for a half-hour session. Please be on time so you don't miss any strategic game tips!

National Veterans Wheelchair Games Turn 30!

In 1981, when Wally Lynch, former director of recreation therapy service in VA Central Office, spoke with Muriel Barbour, then chief of recreation service at the VA Medical Center in Richmond, Va., about hosting a wheelchair sports event to recognize the International Year of Disabled Persons – no one imagined that 30 years later, the event would still be going on. No one could conceive that the number of participants would grow from 74 Veteran athletes from 14 states to more than 500 now, from virtually every U.S. state, Puerto Rico and Great Britain. What started out as a small, seven-event meet later became the largest annual wheelchair sports event in the world. In its history, the event has touched thousands of lives and made an enormous difference in the way people perceive themselves and others. To quote Tom Brown, another of the original founders and VA's national director of the event, "Who would have thought that was even possible? And now, as we celebrate the 30th year of the Games, I am happy we can recognize the importance of this milestone."

Many people have helped make the Games what they are today. Paralyzed Veterans of America, when it joined with VA as co-presenter in 1985, took the Games to another level with the organization's expertise in event planning and marketing. "We have been truly honored to be such an integral partner in this event for so many years," said PVA's Director of Sports, Andy Krieger. "The Games are very important to our staff, our membership and PVA's leadership, not just now but every year."

This week, the daily Games newsletter, The Games Shot, will feature five quiz questions each day to see how much you know about the 30-year history of the National Veterans Wheelchair Games. So test your knowledge every morning and see how well you do!

Happy 30th Anniversary to the National Veterans Wheelchair Games!

The local organizing committee is delighted to cover the cost of the Closing Banquet ticket for athletes and qualifying coaches. Please pick up your complimentary ticket during Expo.

Drink up! Staying hydrated during your time in Denver will help prevent altitude sickness.

Please remember to bring your reusable water bottle to all events and venues this week!
