

The Veterans Industries Program at the VA Healthcare Network Upstate New York facilities is a rehabilitation and employment readiness program for veterans. The program, designed to work closely with community employers, provides actual work experience and skill development opportunities for veterans.

By working with community employers, veterans continue to develop work tolerance, motivation, self-esteem, positive attitudes, good habits, and work behaviors necessary for a successful re-entry into the work force.

As the employer, you receive a veteran with a solid work ethic and the skills necessary to assist in your organization's growth.
